Commerce Commission "Passes Buck" on Canadian Boat Company Controversy

CLAIM UNFAIR COMPETITION

American Boat Owners Want U. S. to Keep Canadians Out of American Ports

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—The Interstate Commerce Commission Saturday ruled that the right of the Northern Navigation Company Ltd., a Canadian Great Lakes steamship line, to participate in transportation between United States ports would have to be decided by court action.

A year's study has been given the question. Chairman Atchafson and Commissioner McMann dissenting, holding that the commission should have settled the question.

Under the American law, waterborne commerce between United States ports is a monopoly to American owned vessels. Exception is made however, in case of transportation on the American continent over "routes heretofore recognized by the interstate commission when such routes are in part over Canadian rail lines and water facilities."

Shippers generally at Great Lakes ports asked that the Northern Navigation company be permitted to compete with American companies while the shipping board and American Great Lakes carriers demanded that the Canadian company be excluded. The majority of the commission held that there had been raised in question of facts to be determined by the courts, and said that the duty "of administering the merchant marine act does not rest upon us and it is not within our province to construe its provisions."

Most of the Northern Navigation company's service is rendered by boats plying between Duluth and Sarnia Ont., a port on Lake Huron. The freight which it carries is in most cases originated by railroads in Canada or the United States and delivered to railroads, so that the interstate commerce commission in point schedule by which the railroad and the water make up what were known as rail-lake and lake-lake rates.

The shipping board joined with the Great Lakes Transit Corporation in asking the Interstate commerce commission to order these joint schedules cancelled, which action would have resulted in outlanking the Canadian company's business so far as the movement of freight between United States ports was concerned.

Shippers in New England and Minnesota alike interested in the proceedings to oppose the shipping board's demand, while the transit company representative argued that American vessels obliged by law to go to more expensive than the Canadian, would be unable to maintain service in competition.

The commission, though conceding that the joint rail-lake and lake-lake rates had been filed with it refused to state whether it considered the Canadian company's facilities to constitute "an established route" under the law.

WOMAN GOVERNOR'S HOME GUARDED BY STATE DRY SQUAD

Cheyenne, Wyo. — Cheyenne was baffled Saturday by the appearance, Friday night, of a dark Friday night of guards stationed around the home premises of its woman governor, Nellie T. Ross. Beyond the report that the guards were state prohibition enforcement agents delving into the character of nearby residents, no statement was available from authorities on the mysterious guarding. The agents were seen to pry into ash cans and under culverts apparently seeking a concealed object.

No explanatory statement was available from any law enforcement branch in Cheyenne.

American Tariff Examinations Cause Sharp Protest from Exporters

By Associated Press

Geneva — A cry of protest against the United States is spreading throughout manufacturing circles in Switzerland, because of the system of establishing special treasury agents who, under the new American tariff law, are authorized to insist on examination of the books of manufacturers to determine the cost of the articles they produce.

This information is sought by the Swiss government as a help in fixing schedules when goods exported from Switzerland arrive at American ports. The impression exists here that the affair has gone too far and both the Swiss and merchant authorities have become so aroused that the question may cause serious diplomatic difficulties unless a way is found for relief.

The Swiss department of public economy is being flooded with protests by exporters who declare that examination by American agents entails the risk of disclosure of their trade secrets.

Washington, D. C.—Complaints from Swiss sources against the inquiries conducted by treasury agents seeking information to assist in fixing tariff duties on imports from Switzerland have become the subject of conferences between state department and treasury officials.

NEW PRESSURE FOR ECONOMY IS PROPOSED

Madden Would Permit Taxpayers to Share in Money Saved by Government

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1925, By Post Pub. Co.)

Washington—How would you like to become a stockholder in the United States government—and if conditions permit, receive a dividend every year?

This, in effect, is the plan laid before President Coolidge by Representative Martin B. Madden of Illinois, chairman of the house appropriations committee. It works this way: Congress appropriates the amount that shall be spent annually and at the same time fixes the rates of taxation. When the income exceeds the outgo for any year the treasury would be authorized to determine exactly what proportion the surplus bears to the amounts collected and each taxpayer would receive a rebate for that particular percentage as applied to his own taxes. Thus if the annual saving amounted to twenty-five percent, this proportion would be applied to the amounts paid.

Every taxpayer would be interested under this scheme in seeing that expenses were held down to a minimum for if no money were saved there would be no rebate. The budget system was designed to prevent expenditures from exceeding income. Mr. Madden's plan would compel further economy so that the entire amount provided for in the budget would not be spent.

COOLIDGE LIKES IT

There is reason to believe the idea is favorably looked upon by both the president and the secretary of the treasury. It will be pushed in the next session of congress.

Under the Madden plan, the rates of taxation would remain the same unless congress wished to make a general revision at any time. In fact the next congress would be made in the next congress anyhow and the Madden proposal would simply be attached to it and would be effective whenever there was a surplus.

"There is no doubt of the constitutionality of the proposal," said Representative Madden, "as we do not delegate any power but simply prescribe what the secretary of the treasury shall do with the surplus in any year."

Every congress has the right to repeal the acts of its predecessor so the measure would not be binding unless future congresses kept it on the statute books. This, however, is true of any revenue law. Thus the Democrats when last in power fixed the rates for two years succeeding and the Republicans did not feel it wise to repeal them. Precedent for such an automatic provision in law can be found. Whether the politicians will like the scheme, however, is another question as it does limit their freedom of action when they wish to appropriate for political purposes.

Mr. Madden's plan provides that there shall be no rebate if the surplus falls below $50,000,000. This would mean that at least $50,000,000 would have to be saved in order to give the taxpayer anything and yet if business conditions did not warrant a reduction in any year the amount of the surplus even if it was only $40,000,000 would apply toward the surplus of a succeeding year.

13 BUILDINGS BURN IN MINNESOTA TOWN FIRE

Superior—Damage estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000 to 13 buildings at Cloverton, Minn., was done Friday afternoon and night by fire originating in the Hotel meet market. The fire was first noticed at 6 o'clock and was thought to have been extinguished three times during the night. Each time it started afresh, even stronger than before. Farmers and townspeople formed bucket brigades and several wells were exhausted of their water supply in fighting the flames.

Progressives Oppose Tax Exemption Repeal

Madison—The Hunt bill repealing the Wisconsin homestead exemption law, up for consideration in the state senate, is due for strong opposition by administration Progressives on the grounds that the law has not had a fair and full trial and that the bill would tend to nullify fundamental principle of the new administration income tax measure, according to a statement Saturday by Senator O. H. Johnson, chairman of the senate committee on taxation.

The homestead exemption law providing an exemption of $500, was passed by the 9123 session of the legislature, but did not become effective until 1924. It should have at least two years more of operation before judgment is passed upon it, Senator Johnson stated.

Repeal of the law, according to the senator, would work as an obstacle to the progressive principle of taxation that those best able to pay should pay. The exemption, he said, was specifically intended to help the "little fellow" by allowing a tax exemption to the extent of $500 in valuation of the homestead. Operation of the law does not increase the tax on other property more than about $2 on a hundred dollars of tax, the senator added.

HINDENBURG SHUNS 'REPUBLIC' IN NOTE

Nationalist Candidate Avows Faith in German People in Proclamation

Berlin — In a proclamation to the German people issued Saturday Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, presidential candidate of the United Parties of the Right, the Nationalist-Conservative bloc, appeals to all patriotic Germans who desire "to safeguard the honor of the German name and social peace."

"The proclamation in which the word 'republic' is not used, continues: 'My life is an open book to the world. I believe I have done my duty in difficult times. As a soldier I considered only the welfare of the whole nation and not that of parties. The chief executive must stand above the latter. I have never lost faith in the German people nor in the aid of the Almighty. I am no longer young enough to believe in a sudden change in things generally. Neither war nor internal rebellion can liberate our enchainment and unfortunately disunited nation.'

"There is need for long, quiet and peaceful labor, especially for that which will cleanse our political life of politicians to use politics for private use."

"Just as the first president never denied his Socialist origin, no one can ever expect me to renounce my political convictions. At the present time I regard not the form of the state, but the spirit animating it as decisive."

WHEAT SHORTAGE REPORT SENDS PRICE UP 7½ CENTS

Chicago — Wheat made a sensational advance in price Saturday jumping right at the start as much as 7½ cents a bushel. On the initial bulge, May delivery wheat touched Thursday's finish.

The United States government crop report indicating 115,000,000 bushel shortage in the 1925 probable yield of winter wheat as compared with the 1924 harvest was the immediate reason.

The opening in the wheat market was so wild that simultaneous transaction in different parts of the trading pits were at prices as much as 2 cents apart. Excitement was intensified by the fact that before business here had begun, the Liverpool market showed a rise of 1½ pence. Aside from the influence of the United States government crop report, the opening of the Liverpool market was only expected to show about 2 pence gain.

AGENTS PLAN TO CLEAN UP IN SAWYER-CO

State Prohibition Department Charges Local Authorities Refused Aid

TOWNS ARE RUN BY TOUGHS

Deputy Is Badly Beaten in Fight With Saloon Element in Draper

By Associated Press

Madison — Conditions reminiscent of the old frontier days exist in Sawyer-co., particularly at Draper and Hayward, the state prohibition department announced Saturday. The dry agents, however, expect to clean up the other places in the county this summer, they declared.

Local authorities were charged in the statement with failure to prosecute persons arrested by the prohibition deputies after numerous complaints have been received by the commission. Dry agents were handled roughly by the "town bouncer" and his gang and driven out of Draper. "There is very little law and order" in the county, home of the lumberjacks, but the "wrecking crew" is going back, it was declared.

CONDITIONS ARE BAD

"We were informed that conditions were rather bad in Sawyer-co. and two of our most reliable deputies were assigned to work in this county, under cover this week."

"The two deputies arrived at Draper about the middle of the afternoon. Draper is a town of about one hundred inhabitants and boasts of four saloons. The inhabitants, especially the "hang outs" in the saloons, were very suspicious of strangers for the reason that some of the men had just returned from serving sentences in the house of correction for violations of the Volstead act.

"About a half an hour after arriving in Draper our deputies were ordered to leave town. They refused to do so. They visited the various saloons and were able to buy some drinks. There was plenty of evidence that moonshine flowed very freely, but the deputies were very suspicious of the two strangers."

MEET TOWN BOUNCER

"They (the deputies) left one of these places after being ordered out and were sitting in front of another place when the 'town bouncer' came along with his crew. They were all under the influence of liquor. They picked a fight with our men and the result was that one of our deputies was rather roughly handled."

"After the fight they (the deputies) again were ordered to leave Draper under threats of violence so they left and walked to the next town where they hired a livery and returned to Hayward. One of the men was badly in need of medical attention which he received that night. Next morning a warrant was sworn out for the leader of the 'gang' who was brought to Hayward and was bound over to circuit court on a charge of assault to do great bodily harm."

"It is true that our men happened to be working in Sawyer-co. during election time and things were pretty wild after the results were known. There was some shooting and plenty of drinking by the inhabitants, as well as some of the officials, that night."

"Our men left for Milwaukee on a late train with the expectation of returning in the near future with our wrecking crew in order to do some real cleaning up work."

WHEELER SAYS HE WILL TAKE STAND TO PROVE INNOCENCE

Great Falls Mont. — Senator Burton K. Wheeler will take the witness stand in the trial which begins here April 16, and will tell the entire story of the circumstances leading up to his indictment for accepting money for appearing before a government department after having been elected to the United States senate, he announced here Saturday.

The Montana senator, who is formally accused of receiving $10,000 from Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, for prosecuting oil prospecting claims before the department of the interior, declared that he had "nothing to conceal" and that he would insist on telling his story to the jury in federal court here.

KAROLYI PREDICTS NEW ENTENTE RULE

Austro-Hungarian Visitor Says Hungarians Would Restore Hapsburgs

St. John, N. B.—Declaring that the present Hungarian government planned to return the Hapsburgs to a restored Austro-Hungarian empire in alliance with an imperial Germany, the consultations of President Duménil looking to the selection of a new premier, have hardly even started, it may be said that M. Herriot's immediate return is very unlikely.

M. Painlevé, president of the chamber, who announced that he would not accept the task of forming a cabinet when it was first mentioned, but "would sacrifice himself to the cause of the left" should no other politician be found able to reconcile the widely divergent viewpoints of the senate and chamber, appears to be the man most likely to succeed in forming a ministry.

President Duménil's task is especially difficult because the other day the senate not only repudiated the financial policy of the Herriot government but specified it would not support any government but a coalition of all the Republican groups. This was considered as tantamount to declaring war on the chamber.

Ministerial Crisis Grows as French Senate Wars With Chamber

Upper House Declares It Will Not Support Present Financial Policy

By Associated Press

Paris—The Herriot cabinet is out of power overthrown by the senate because of the charges that under M. Herriot's rule the legal limit of the banknote circulation had been secretly exceeded, but M. Herriot's majority in the chamber of deputies remains virtually intact.

At a general meeting Saturday morning of the four groups of left parties forming the governmental majority since last May, a resolution was adopted "to continue with unshakable determination the policies for which the country voted at the last election." The meeting represented about 340 deputies, constituting a good working majority of the chamber.

The Socialists, 104 strong, went even one better when they decided they would support no other than M. Herriot.

The senate declared itself in such unequivocal manner — the adverse vote being 156 to 132 — that although the consultations of President Duménil looking to the selection of a new premier, have hardly even started, it may be said that M. Herriot's immediate return is very unlikely.

M. Painlevé, president of the chamber, who announced that he would not accept the task of forming a cabinet when it was first mentioned, but "would sacrifice himself to the cause of the left" should no other politician be found able to reconcile the widely divergent viewpoints of the senate and chamber, appears to be the man most likely to succeed in forming a ministry.

President Duménil's task is especially difficult because the other day the senate not only repudiated the financial policy of the Herriot government but specified it would not support any government but a coalition of all the Republican groups. This was considered as tantamount to declaring war on the chamber.

M. Painlevé, who is in consultation with the leaders of the chamber, if he accepts, would be premier without portfolio, and his adherents assert that he would request former Premier Loucheur, former Minister of Finance, to head the cabinet.

Unless M. Painlevé accepts the commission to form a cabinet immediately the ministerial crisis is certain to be long and arduous.

ANTI-KLAN CANDIDATE'S STORE WRECKED BY BOMB

Herrin, Ill.—An investigation continued Saturday into the bombing of the McCormack brothers store here Friday, but officials remained silent as to possible instigators of the crime which wrecked the frame structure and shattered windows in nearby homes. No one was injured. The only clue revealed was a report that a small automobile had been seen speeding from the vicinity previous to the explosion.

Marshall McCormack, one of the firm, is a candidate on the citizens ticket for mayor of Herrin and is opposed by Klan sympathizers who back the conservative ticket. The citizens are both klanmen and anti-klanmen.

189 NABBED IN RAIDS ON DENVER VICE RESORTS

By Associated Press

Denver, Colo.—Invaded by the combined forces of the law, Denver's underworld Friday night was rocked to its foundation by the most intensive raids in the city's history and Saturday found 189 men and women behind jail bars as the result of a general offensive against liquor and vice.

Fifty squads of officers converged in a church and under dimmed lights received from Mayor Ben Stapleton the orders that sent them out to "get off the lid."

Descending simultaneously on various notorious sections the raiders invaded almost every type of public and private building. An underground "tipoff" system was set in motion, officers said, and they found a number of resorts deserted.

BLAINE COHORTS OPPOSE BILL TO REDUCE BOARDS

Titus Plan Runs into Opposition
From Administration
Forces

Madison, Wis.—Administration progressives in the state legislature are expected to oppose senate bill No. 345 introduced by Senator William A. Titus, Fond du Lac, for the abolition or consolidation of many state boards and commissions which is up for consideration in the senate, Wednesday, in special order of business at 10 a. m.

This was indicated by Senator A. E. Garry, Edgerton, administration floor leader.

The bill has been recommended for passage by the senate committee on education and public welfare.

Objection of the administration to the bill will be centered on the point that while the bill exempts to consolidate or eliminate boards, commissions, there is contained in it no accompanying clause which would eliminate appropriations made in effect for such merged or eliminated boards.

"There would be no advantage in a law for consolidation or elimination which would not correspondingly reduce the appropriations under which they now operate," Senator Garry said.

On the other hand, it is the claim of Senator Titus, author of the bill that repeal of statutes creating boards and commissions automatically cuts off the appropriations. Where it is necessary to carry on the work of consolidated or merged boards under jurisdiction of other departments of government at some extra expense, it is the belief of the senator that the matter of funds for their work in time will be adjusted through investigations of the executive board created by the bill.

LEGION READY TO CALL BOY SCOUT TROOP SESSION

One Johnston post of the American legion expects to organize its new boy scout troop within the next two or three days. It will be composed of sons of legionnaires as far as possible but the roll will be open to any boys who are interested. Application may be made to the boy scout headquarters or any member of the sponsoring committee composed of Thomas Morrissey, Lohar Graef and Henry J. Pettigrew.

Lee C. Rasey, principal of the high school, has given the legion permission to use quarters there for the weekly meetings of the troop until school closes. The first session probably will be held on Friday but definite announcement will be made later. Harry Mory is to be the scoutmaster.

SECRETARY OF C. OF C. AT RACINE QUILTS JOB

Racine—Francis H. Bartlett, secretary, tendered his resignation to the board of directors of the association of commerce Friday and it was accepted. The resignation is to take effect as soon as his successor can be selected. No reason was given for the resignation, but it is understood that because of the inactivity of the association members were dissatisfied and demanded a change in the office of the secretary.

A drive for new members two months ago was without success and a new drive was planned by the Kiwanis club, but when it was reported that the association has a deficit of $10,000 the plan was dropped.

Mr. Bartlett was elected secretary in 1922 at a salary of $6,000 a year. Previously he was employed by the Modine Manufacturing Co. and later was a candidate for the office of mayor.

Bartlett will continue to reside in Racine but has "made no plans for the future. The directors of the association will select a man from outside Racine as a successor.

WIND KICKS UP DUST BUT DOES NO HARM

Did Appleton escape a hurricane Friday night?

That question has been asked by many who witnessed a windstorm between 11 and 12 o'clock, accompanied by clouds which looked like the cyclone variety.

The wind began sudden antics and blew violently, sending clouds of dust and rubbish rushing through the streets. A steady gale was in progress for at least 15 minutes and then it ceased as quickly as it began. The sky was light and fairly clear overhead except for cone-shaped clouds that loomed up with the wind and passed over. There were two of these.

No damage was reported anywhere in Appleton and it is believed the gale spent its force when it reached Lake Winnebago, as it was heading in that direction. Slight damage was done at Kaukauna but no other reports were received from this locality.

and a group of farmers also will be guests of the chamber.

Talks in addition to the address of Mr. Grau will be given by several who make 5-minute reports. Those scheduled are A. C. Remley, president, Hugh G. Corbett, secretary, L. O. Wissman, treasurer, J. D. Steele, legislative committee, R. G. Wort, traffic and freight rate matters, and Seymour Gmelner, national councillor.

Weyauwega Store Robbed by Thief

Weyauwega authorities are seeking a man wearing a sheepskin coat, grey trousers and a hunting cap, who is charged with stealing a Hudson coach Thursday evening from Roy D. Auspin, 1000 Clark-st., Stevens Point. The man broke into the Equity office at Weyauwega early Thursday evening and stole 35 gallons of gasoline, 20 gallons of motor oil, 10 gallons of cup grease and a few other articles. The car was found deserted at 8:30 Friday evening about 4 miles south of Weyauwega, on highway 49, and was returned to Mr. Auspin. The upholstery was ruined with oil and grease. The description of the thief has been broadcasted by radio from the Stevens Point station.

You'd Never Know the Ruts and Holes Were There

THE roads haven't changed. But you're not conscious of their roughness when you ride in the New Paige or the New Jewett. Step right along. Never mind those bumps. All you feel is a slow, gentle motion as you cross them.

The reason for this restful, new riding comfort? Easily understood. First—balloon tires. But that alone isn't enough. A brand new type of spring suspension gives you the full benefit of balloon tires.

Next—springs are unusually long—Paige's more than five feet—Jewett's nearly half its wheelbase! And husky weight—to hold the road. That's the answer.

And even with the added road friction of balloon tires you steer with effortless touch-control. Special gearing and ball-bearing steering spindles account for that.

And there's giant strength in these two cars. And the beauty of the costliest cars.

And such limitless power! From big, superbly balanced, moderate-speed six-cylinder motors that are never even taxed—so they last longer.

Take the wheel of a New Paige or Jewett. These marvelous cars will tell their own story. Call or telephone us today.

PAIGE JEWETT

LESS DRUNKENNESS BUT MORE ARRESTS U. S. WENT "DRY"

Traffic Law Violations Account for Increase in Names on Police Docket

Appleton, in common with the country in general has seen a sharp increase in the number of arrests since the adoption of the prohibition amendment, but the increase here was not in the number arrested for intoxication, it is indicated in records of the Appleton police department.

During the year from April 1, 1918 to March 31, 1919 total arrests in Appleton numbered 215; from April 1, 1919 to March 31, 1920 they dropped to 137. These were the two years immediately preceding the passage of the Eighteenth amendment. From Jan. 1, 1924 to Jan. 1, 1925 the number of persons apprehended for all offenses in Appleton mounted to 357.

The number of arrests for intoxication in 1918-1919 was 75, during the next year it was 10 and in 1924, four years after the Volstead law went into effect, 53 drunks were arrested in Appleton, while during the first year of the rule of the "drys," 1920-1921, the number of drunks arrested was 47.

These figures, compiled from police reports, agree with the general trend throughout the United States as shown in a survey made by the Anti-Saloon league. Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the league, when asked to explain these figures, declared that the increased total number of arrests made in this country does not mean an increase in crime. He also expressed satisfaction over the number of arrests for intoxication, regarding it as an indication of more effective law enforcement.

As in the rest of the country, the increase in number of arrests in Appleton in 1924 was due to violations of traffic and automobile laws. The arterial highway ordinance in Appleton alone resulted in 110 arrests out of 357 last year.

Intoxication and traffic violations caused the greatest number of arrests during each year since 1918, according to available police records. Arrests for intoxication have been enumerated above. Those for traffic law violations during 1918-1919 numbered 17, during the next year there were 20, and this number increased to 33 in 1920-1921. Speeders taken in 1923 formed a small army of 71, but with the arterial highway system adding 110 arrests in 1924, the total of traffic law violators picked up during that year mounted to 163, or more than twice as many as in any previous year.

FEW BURGLARIES
Larceny appears to be on the wane here, for in 1918 there were but 13 arrests, 17 during the next year, 15 in 1921, 18 the next year, while in 1922 and 1924 the number dropped to 10 and 15 respectively. Burglaries on the other hand, remain about the same. The biggest number since 1918 was recorded in 1921, when 21 arrests were made for that crime, while in 1924 but 2 were recorded.

The reports show that Appleton is a poor refuge for fugitives from justice. Last year 30 fugitives were apprehended here and sent back to cities where they were wanted, in 1923 there were 17, from April 1, 1922, to Dec. 31, 1922, there were 22, and in 1921-1922 there were 35. The greatest number of fugitives brought back to Appleton authorities was in 1924 when 9 were returned. The previous year saw five criminals returned to Appleton after seeking refuge in other cities, while the smallest number was in 1918-1919.

Similar statistics throughout the country are used as material upon which to base arguments both for and against prohibition. Figures may not lie, but it is not a difficult matter to distort them. Impartial observers here state, and while the number of arrests might indicate an increase in crime, it also might mean an increase in the efficiency of law enforcement, as Mr. Wheeler claims it is.

CONTINUE REHEARSALS FOR ALL-COLLEGE PLAY

In spite of the absence of Prof. F. W. Orr, who is accompanying the college negative debaters on their western tour, practices are being conducted regularly on the all-college play, to be presented the first week in May. J. Alden Behnke, Appleton, who is stage manager of the production, has been supervising rehearsals during Prof. Orr's absence.

Every member of the class in play production is working on some phase of the presentation. Work is being done in lighting, scenic effects, business organization, and many other technical angles of play production.

Prof. Orr is expected to return April 15, and at that time the exact date for the performance will be decided upon and the finishing touches given to the production.

SENIOR WRITES PAGEANT FOR COLLEGE MAY FETE

A pageant written by Walda Rusch, '25, Appleton, has been selected by judges for the annual May Fete production this year. The production is being sponsored by the Tormentors, college dramatic organization.

The pageant, winner of the prize of $25 offered by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., is written in verse and contains the exercises for the traditional crowning of the May Queen and also the senior class day exercises. It is planned that the May Fete this year will be entirely a Lawrence production, and the writing of the affair was the first original step in this direction.

Judges of the pageant submitted were Professors Lora Miller and F. W. Clippinger of the English department and Prof. F. W. Orr of the public speaking department of the college.

Judge H. M. Fellenz Proposes Law to Place Violators at Work on Highways

Drunken and reckless drivers, speeders, habitual drunks and disorderly charges and vagrants would have to work on the county and state highways if a statute empowering county sheriffs to work their prisoners were passed by the legislature. Such a statute is favored by Judge H. M. Fellenz of Fond du Lac as a curb against such offenders.

Judge Fellenz already has communicated with the legislature and other officials at Madison in regard to this plan and hopes that steps in this direction may be taken in the near future. He believes that this plan would be far more effective than the old workhouse system.

Judge Fellenz would have the crew taken out of jail each morning and put to work on the roadways moving down weeds and putting the roads in good shape, under the direction and guard of deputies. He believes that the married prisoners should be paid for their labor, and the money turned over to their families, while the bachelor prisoners would receive no wages at all.

Similar plans are already in operation in Florida, California and other states, according to Judge Fellenz. Not only, he declares, do the prisoners have time to reflect on this misdemeanor, but they are subject to the humiliation of working in view of friends who pass.

With Best Publications
of Writers

Many new books have been added to the "new book shelf" of Lawrence college library. In order to keep abreast with latest publications, the books on the shelf are constantly changing as new books are added and others placed on the regular shelves.

The books vary in subjects from a copy of Robinson's "The Golden Rule" to a copy of "The American Social History as Recorded by British Travelers," a collection of excerpts from writings of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, and the Twentieth century up to 1922.

Paul Leicester Ford, rebelling against the canonizing of our national heroes, in "The True George Washington" advocates the humanizing of the earliest national heroes.

Other books on the shelf are a collection of short stories, Harry Emerson Fosdick's "Twelve Tests of Character," Brown's "Why I Believe in Religion," the report of the bureau of vocational information on "Training for the Professions and Allied Occupations," and "Honest Liberty in the Church," the record of the church congress in the United States, on its sixteenth anniversary.

The books on the short story include "Roast Beef Medium"—Ferber; "The Odd Number"—Maupassant; "The Luck of Roaring Camp"—Bret Harte; "The Development of the American Short Story"—Pattee.

NATIONALISTS PIN HOPES ON HINDENBURG

From this distance it would seem that the decision of German nationalists to nominate Field Marshal Hindenburg for the presidency is a bold and clever political stroke. Doubtless it will serve to unite the various nationalist factions, but it will at the same time consolidate the republican element. According to the recent poll for the presidency, the nationalists are in a substantial minority as compared to the aggregate of the various republican parties.

On a plain issue of principle, that is of their political professions as opposed to the policies of the liberals, the nationalists, which is another name for royalists, were doomed to certain defeat. The only thing that might save them was the selection of a conspicuous figure who might break into the ranks of the republicans through personal hero-worship. Hindenburg undoubtedly best measures up to these requisites. Of all the great war leaders from 1914 to the close of the conflict Hindenburg emerged with probably the greatest prestige and the greatest fame. A great military figure always carries a strong popular appeal. It takes quite a number of years for this appeal to die out. We have had illustrations of this in the selection of some of our presidents. Hindenburg's candidacy will bring joy to the irreconcilables and the reactionaries. They will see in his election the possibility of a return to the old regime.

Strong as Hindenburg is, however, in a personal sense, he may not be politically so strong as the royalists have imagined. Socialists, democrats and liberals of all shades must inevitably support Marx, who has done so much to safeguard and maintain the republic. It will be a question whether a popular idol can succeed in overthrowing the demonstrated convictions of the German people in favor of a republic. There is no special reason to believe that Hindenburg would make a resourceful and capable president. He has had no experience in civil affairs and is not equipped by experience or temperament for civil duty. He is an old man and his preferences undoubtedly are for a return to monarchy, for although he has played fair with the republic he has maintained close relationship with the Hohenzollerns, and it is plain that that is where his heart lies.

The election in Germany will attract world wide attention, for it is a clean cut issue between the monarchists and the republicans. Of course, the sympathies and hopes of the democratic nations will be that Marx is elected. We think a fair analysis of the candidates, the issues involved and conditions in Germany justify the expectation that he will win.

WISCONSIN PROSPERITY

We have before us a bulletin issued by the division of research and statistics of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago for the Seventh district, showing the status of savings accounts and deposits in the banks of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. The figures for Wisconsin include twenty-four banks located in the industrial centers. These statistics show that since Feb. 1, 1925, and since March 1, 1924, as well as in comparison with the average deposits for the year 1920, Wisconsin is at the foot of the latter.

Since Feb. 1, 1925, savings deposits in the industrial centers of Wisconsin have decreased two tenths of 1 per cent. In all of the other states they have shown healthy increases, viz: Three-tenths of 1 per cent gain in Illinois; four tenths of 1 per cent gain in Indiana and Iowa, and a 2 per cent gain in Michigan. Against an average gain for the district of eighth-tenths of 1 per cent, Wisconsin shows a loss of two-tenths.

If we make a comparison from March 1, 1924, or for a year, we find the following: Wisconsin savings deposits increased 1.8 per cent; those of Illinois, 2.4 per cent; Indiana, 2.5; Iowa, 7.1; Michigan, 5.1. The average gain for the district was 3.8, while that for Wisconsin was 1.8, or less than half. The same thing applies to the average deposits for 1920. Our gain since that time in Wisconsin has been 11.7 per cent, while for the entire district it has been 24.6 per cent.

These are figures which the politicians cannot distort, deny or falsify. They are federal records of savings deposits and there is no going behind them. The political fakery at Madison will tell the people that Wisconsin is the most prosperous state in the Union when they want to load on more taxes, and when they ask for votes at election time they will tell them how much they are suffering from adversity and what they will do for them when they are returned to office. Their gymnastic feats are wonderful.

The simple truth is that Wisconsin is not doing well industrially and has not been for a number of years. We do not need statistics to prove this. Every person in every industrial city in Wisconsin knows it from common observation. We know it here in Appleton and in the Fox River Valley.

Bank deposits do not lie. Industrial workers of Wisconsin have been able to increase their savings accounts by less than half the amount their fellow workers have been laying up money in surrounding states.

Is this the kind of condition labor desires in Wisconsin? There can be no question that it is due in large measure to the persecution of capital and industry by politicians at Madison. It is due in part to burdensome taxation and in part to laws or the threat of laws which prejudice industry and investments in this state and place them at a material disadvantage in competition with products manufactured in other states. The political policies of Wisconsin are not only retarding our industrial development, but they are laying a heavy hand on our industrial prosperity.

Do Wisconsin salary and wage earners want to continue this deadening policy? Do they wish to go on indefinitely penalizing industry, penalizing their chances of increased pay, penalizing their savings accounts and smothering business and commercial prosperity, without which they can have no prosperity themselves?

TAXPAYERS USE BOOT

There are some interesting side lights on Tuesday's election that will not escape the attention of our super-hydrodynamic tax artists at Madison and super-progressive politicians in general. A number of the august senators who voted for the administration bill to increase taxes were candidates locally for such offices as members of the board of supervisors, town chairman, etc., and uniformly they were defeated. Among the casualty list we note the names of Senators Staudenmayer and Bilgrien, and Assemblyman Bruce Johnson. These are conspicuous in the affairs of the legislature, and while some of them had difficulty in swallowing the governor's program, they came up to the scratch at the finish and voted for the $6,000,000 tax increase and removal of the personal property offset.

When men of such political prominence in their home communities are defeated for a minor office, there must be a reason. There can be no question that in this instance the reason was their support of the administration's tax bill. This conclusion is emphasized by the fact that those candidates who opposed tax revision upward and removal of the personal property offset were uniformly elected.

When the people come to pay their taxes next year and have to contribute to spendthrift politics in both the income levy and the personal property tax, they will realize still more effectually the blessings these spurious reformers at Madison have handed them.

WHY A RUB DOWN?

Visiting the purlieus of football arenas, athletic fields and the prize ring I have often wondered why all the business of massage. It is largely a "business" in the stage sense. The massage or pretense of massage given the professional boxer by his attendants between rounds is surely 98 per cent business. Even a fellow as much as much good by making a few trick passes before his eyes. The spectators seem to expect it and the professional athletes feel they have got to cater to the crowd.

But it is the formal rub down after a "workout" or a race or a game that impresses me as being chiefly scenery. Then when the physically uneducated "trainer" or manager fetches out his favorite nostrum to use for the rubbing business, I feel that such part of the business as may be classified as such is really a person without education and seldom has he had any physical training. The massage given by an expert who has been properly trained is a remedy of the greatest value. We are not questioning the value of massage as a remedy. The question is simply whether the ordinary "rub down" as generally applied in professional athletics and to some extent in amateur athletics is of any advantage.

Physiologically, it is pretty clearly established that from three to five minutes of kneading and stroking will produce all the effect that any longer period of massage will produce. The effect is mainly if not exclusively shortening of the period of fatigue or postponing the onset of fatigue. This might conceivably be of some importance if an athlete had to enter a second contest immediately after the first. It can have little importance in the case of the baseball player or other professional who receives the rub down after the contest is over. In fact, there is good physiological reason to assume that such an athlete would derive greater advantage from the performance of some mild general physical exercise, such as a leisurely stroll of a mile or two, or a few easy calisthenic movements a few hours after the contest and again eight or ten hours later. This would probably prove more effective in preventing soreness or stiffness than does the much vaunted rub down.

The untutored "trainer" is a bit hazy in his theories about the purpose of the rub down. It is evident when he fetches out the impressive smelling liniment or rubbing oil—the odor of which inspires his faith as does the tangerine tint in the "liniment" that comes wrapped around the package. Some liquid, powder or oil may be necessary as a lubricant in massage, but it is childish to imagine that any such stuff has any remedial virtues of its own when applied to the skin—except such volatile substances as the subject or operator may inhale. Cocoa butter, petroleum, talcum powder, witch hazel, etc., some liniment—any of these is harmless enough if desired and no mystery need be made of it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Very Popular Ailment.

In an article entitled "The Will o' the Wisp," published January 30, you mentioned Billings complaint. I would appreciate it very much if you will advise me whether there is any danger of this ailment developing into tuberculosis. (B. F. J.)

Answer—Billings complaint takes its name from the man who first described it. Josh Billings said "the trouble with a lot of plain people is they know so many things which ain't so." Billings complaint does not develop into tuberculosis, but it unquestionably delays or prevents recovery in a good many cases of tuberculosis.

Third Great Plague. In an article recently you said you would give the essential facts about the "third great plague" which you could not discuss freely in the paper. Please give me those facts. (Miss S. L.)

Answer—The "third great plague" is syphilis. Essential facts about syphilis will be sent by mail accompanying your request for the information with a stamped self addressed envelope, but no clippings or other references.

STOP IT

The day was bright and sunny, Johnny thought he'd take a ride. Just to ride around and sit and think. With no one by his side.

So he toured the country o'er. It rambled everywhere; Just he, his Ford, and all alone— Not a worry, not a care.

Came he to a railroad track, cradled shird shird shird shird shird. Heard the whistle of a train; Shot'd he hurry up and cross it Or sit back and rest his brain?

Fast he came to his decision. But the train came so much faster: &@&@* (---) &!! Bump—Crash Bang! Disaster!

Now in a little graveyard Near the track he should have crossed Reads a somber marble tombstone; "He who stops to think is lost."

LET THE GALS' HOSE ALONE

"Mrs. Clem Bassett wishes to inform the public that her fire hose can not be used for fires by the general public. It is a private piece of property, costing many dollars, and every time there is a fire the hose is taken and left wherever the fire may be, and she respectfully requests that her hose be left alone." WATCH YOUR STEP

He never glanced behind to see, (It was no fault of ours) He looked as natural as could be— I never saw such flowers! —E. M. Ratcliffe.

Our Mr. Keicher might try to organize boy scout troops at least among some of the smaller ones, such as the Black Hills, Lake-st hill, Sunny Slope, and take them on weekly hikes.

Around the golf course, brown and sere, I case the little pill: I "hunt and swat" alternately, o'er dale and ditch and hill.

My game is rotten, in my heart I feel the lust to kill; And when I've holed the final putt, I'm nervous, weak, and ill.

I guess I've sworn a hundred times, in words I now deplore, I'd not indulge a habit which most always made me sore.

Yet if tomorrow's bright and fair, as I have done before, With hopeful heart I'll grab my clubs and sally forth once more.

The real wide open spaces are to be found in the cross-word puzzle country.

Trust a kid to ask a naive question, says Maurice. A young man, who has been married about three weeks, came into the office one day this week.

At the same time two small boys about eight years old were in the office. Nothing had been said between the young man and the boys, when all of a sudden one of the youngsters looked up into the man's face and piped up in a shrill, piercing voice, "How do you like your wife?"

Good advice is always the hardest to take.

The days are growing longer. Sure, it is harder to get the stuff now. ROLLO

Saturday Sermon

"The Unseen Master" is the title of the following sermon prepared especially for the Post-Crescent by the Rev. D. P. French.

There are some things that even the preacher does not know and there are quite a few other things that nobody else knows. In other words, we must recognize human limitations and also divine rectitude.

God has not told us everything, largely because we are not capable of understanding these hidden mysteries. For instance, take the fact of the resurrection. It can't be proven in the sense of a mathematical demonstration and its value does not lie in its logic anyway. There are a great many problems faced by humanity, which we never will be able to settle. One may run through the whole circle of facts that go to make up human life and he will find himself face to face with an unsolved problem at every turn. And yet great progress has been made.

Take medical science as an illustration. It is away ahead of what it was a century ago. Now this fact of advancement in human thinking leads us to believe that some day a complete answer will be found for every problem of human existence. What about the problem of the future life? "If a man die shall he live again?" And when and where and how? Frankly I do not know, but I do know that mankind has made progress in solving other problems that once looked insoluble and perhaps the hour will strike when this question will be in the same category.

THERE IS SOME LIGHT

And yet there is a difference in the method of investigation for there must be admitted into this question of after existence the element of the supernatural. The Christian believes that he has a definite light on this dark place. He knows full well that not every corner is illuminated and that mystery remains in it, but he does claim that he has knowledge that some others do not have regarding the future. He has had a suspicion for some time that human existence leads somewhere. Perhaps he cannot make this clear, but nevertheless he feels and knows that the end of the road is not simply six feet of dirt and an oblong box. And he knows this for the simple reason that Jesus Christ has pointed out to him that his existence is entwined with God, and God is eternal. The fact of His resurrection is a guarantee of ours. Maybe I can't prove it by geometry or algebraic equations, but I do not dismiss it because it is supernatural.

Any person who looks at the Christian world and the effect produced upon it by the resurrected Lord, will not deny its reality. Men are not made better by a fantasy. Yes, the fact of the resurrection is hard to grasp, but it can be grasped just the same, and when we stand in the presence of physical death, we had better have faith in it or else there is no chance whatever for courage and hope. If it has been possible for God to have drawn aside, if only for a moment, the veil that separates time from eternity, surely He would have done so, and since He has not, it is the part of wisdom to believe that "All is of God, that is and is to be, and God is good."

CAN'T EXPLAIN

Life is a school. God is the master. We are the pupils. But we cannot see Him or touch Him or hear His voice directly. No scientist can explain the telephone. No one knows what electricity is nor how it can transmit voice vibrations and reproduce them at a distance. Nobody can explain just now God communicates with men.

What is inspiration? Don't know. How does God lead and answer prayer? Don't know. How shall we live after we are dead? Don't know. Ah, yes but we do know, Calvary was there.

MATT SCHMIDT & SON
Two Floors of Good Things to Wear

God's peroration and the empty tomb of Joseph of Arimathea was God's benediction to a sin cursed world.

"Across the unmeasured stretches of the deep
The gray gulls whirl and dip;
The wild sea-horses toss their snow white manes;
Afar steams on a ship.

There is a strange, vast dome of sky above.
A trackless waste below.
A solemn, weird infinity of space
Through which the vessels go.

The world we knew has drifted out of sight;
The dear, familiar shore,
The towns, the fields, the mountains, all and all Seem gone forevermore.

Between two worlds, one lost and one unfound,
We sail by night and day.
O sea, be merciful! O ship be strong!
O God, make safe our way."

Atheism says there is no God; pessimism denies that God is good, optimism flashes before us the resurrection and bids us to be of good cheer.

Q. Who had the first department store? H. L. A.

A. The modern department store is an evolution of the village general store. Rowland H. Macy is credited with having conceived the department store idea in America and was probably the first in the world. He opened an establishment at 204 Sixth Avenue, New York City, 1858. At first it was devoted exclusively to fancy goods and gradually hats, dress goods, jewelry, toilet ware and other departments were added. For many years this was the only store in New York to carry soaps and perfumes. Wanamaker's in Philadelphia was opened in 1861 as Oak Hall, Marshall Field & Company was organized in Chicago in 1881.

Q. Can a fox climb a tree? A. A. A. Foxes do not as a rule climb trees, but in some instances have been known to do so. Especially young ones often climb fences and poles in breeding pens.

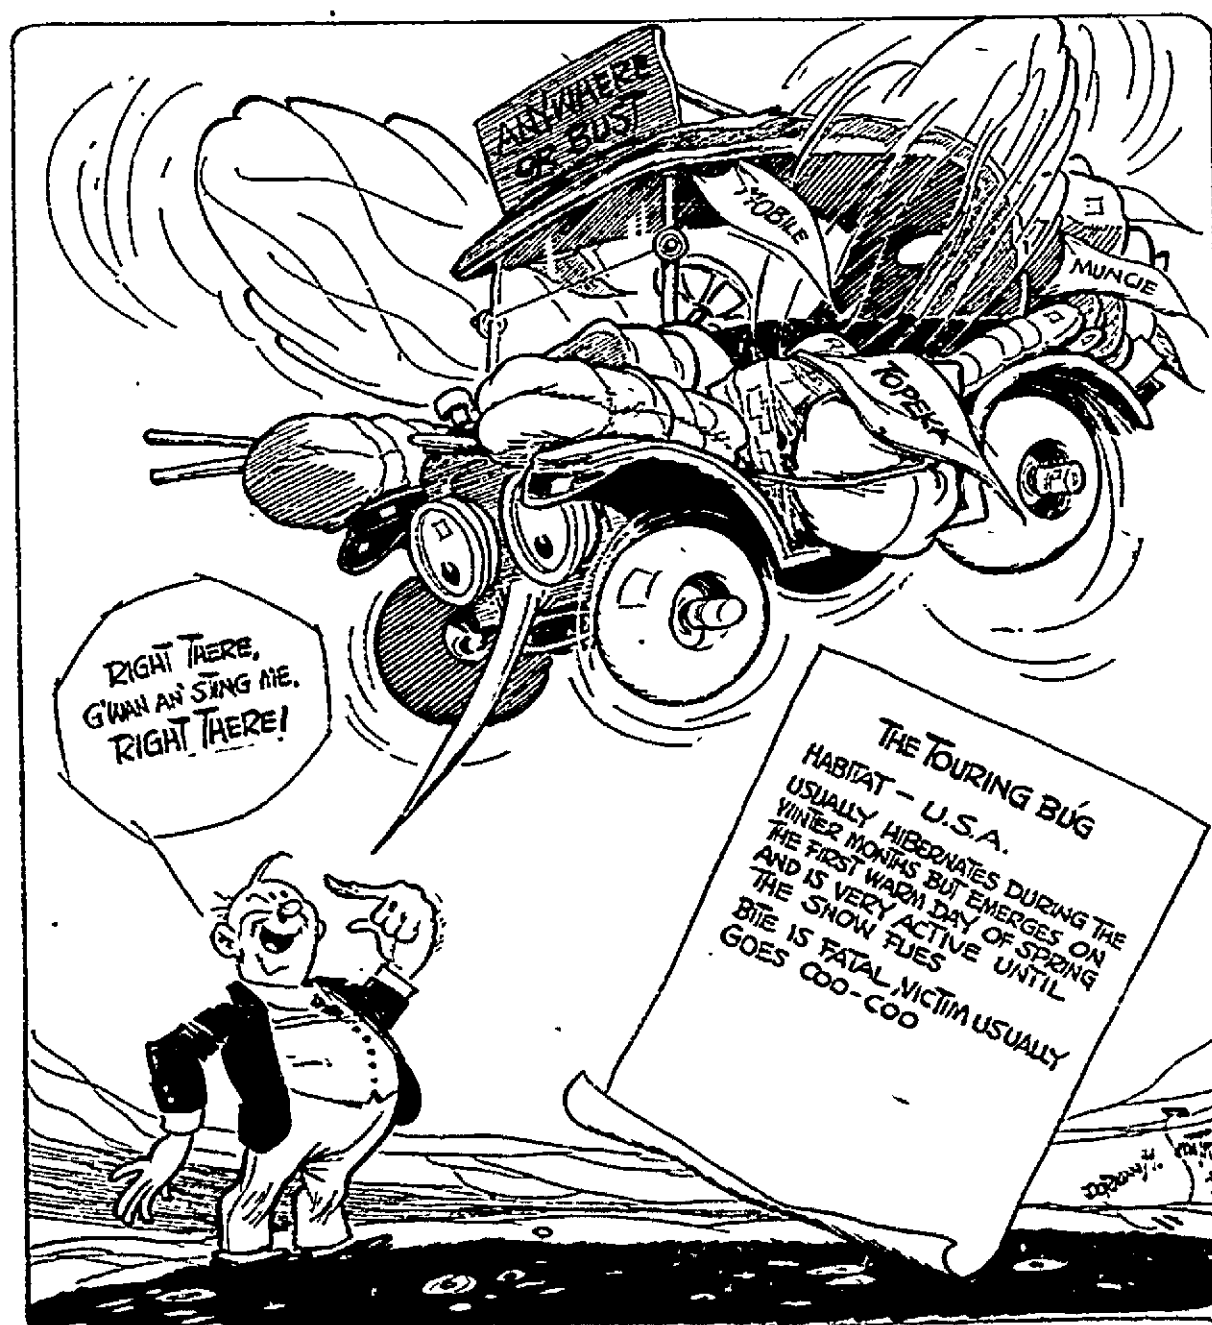

Q. Are natural flower essences used in this country in the making of perfumes? P. J. T. A. Natural flowers are used in the making of perfume but the oil is not extracted from the natural flowers in this country. We import these essences from France, Bulgaria, Italy, and other foreign countries.

Q. What was the amount of the Democratic and Republican national campaign funds last year? C. A. The total expenditures of the campaign by the Republican National Committee was $4,062,852.74. The Democratic National Committee filed with the Clerk of the House at Washington a report showing total campaign contributions of $845,520. From July 1 to November 20, and reported a loan of $120,000 which made available for the campaign a total of $65,520.

Q. How much land surrounds the Cathedral at Mount St. Albans? T. G. A. The Cathedral close cover an area of 6 1/2 acres.

Q. How many times has Easter come in March since 1872? J. E. S. A. Ten times—1880, 1883, 1891, 1894, 1902, 1907, 1910, 1915, 1918, and 1921.

Adventures Of The Twins

Mrs. Redbreast's Alarm Clock. Mister Peg Leg, the fairy peddler, knocked on Mister Robin Redbreast's front door, or rather he shook it, for it was only a twig of green leaves.

Mrs. Redbreast chirped out, "Come in," and so in walked Mister Peg Leg, followed by Nancy and Nick, his companions. Their magic shoes were most useful, not only in climbing trees, but also in making them small enough to call on their tiny friends such as Mrs. Robin Redbreast, without alarming her.

"Please excuse me for not getting up," said Mrs. Redbreast. "But I have to keep the eggs warm. Robin is out hunting worms. Have a chair, please."

The visitors sat down and Mister Peg Leg started to open his pack. "Would you like to buy something?" he asked.

"What do you have?" asked Mrs. Redbreast politely.

"Everything from cough drops to overhauls," said the little peddler man.

"My, my," exclaimed Mrs. Redbreast. "I never need cough-drops, Mister Peddler, and as for overhauls, why, I don't need them, either. Robins love to go where it is damp."

"Could you use some nice soup-spoons or pickle-forks," asked Mister Peg Leg.

"I'm afraid not," said Mrs. Redbreast. "But I'll tell you something. Robin's birthday is coming and I was just wondering what I could give him."

"Would he like a nice pair of ear muffs?" suggested Mister Peg Leg. "It often snows even as late as this and it would save him the trouble of tucking his head under his wing."

"That would do at all," exclaimed Mrs. Robin. "If he wore ear muffs, how could he ever hear the worms and bugs crawling around? No, I'm sure that ear muffs wouldn't do. What else do you have?"

"Perhaps he'd like a nice egg-cup," said Mister Peg Leg.

Mrs. Redbreast shrieked, "The very thought makes me shudder," she said. "Oh, dear! Haven't you something useful?"

"How would an alarm clock do?" asked Nancy who had been thinking hard. "They say that the early bird gets the worm, and perhaps—"

"That was all she had a chance to say, for Mrs. Redbreast was so overjoyed she almost fell off her nest."

"The very thing! The very thing!" she declared delightedly. "I knew we would hit on something useful Robin says that the last few mornings all the worms were gone when he got there although he rose at sunup. Some of the other birds must sit up all night, he says. If he has an alarm clock he can set it any time he pleases and hear them all. I'll certainly take an alarm clock. Yes, just one, thank you. You may set it on the mantel. No, that won't do. Please hide it in the cupboard so I can surprise him. The money is in the top bureau drawer."

"Goodness said Mister Peg Leg happily when they had gone. "At this rate I'll soon have a new leg."

But Nick was thinking about the alarm clock. Something worried him. And well it might.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESBOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON
My Dear Syd: I can't tell you how disappointed I was when I received your wire. You know I really expected to find you here when I arrived, but if you are coming in the last of the week, as you promised, I'll forgive you this time.

You didn't say what was detaining you. I hope it is business and not illness. You didn't look very well the last time I saw you.

Enclosed in this you will find a letter from Paula Perier. That girl is the most surprising piece of the female species I have ever encountered. Do you really think she meant what she said or was she only bluffing when she dared me to show the letter I am sending you to Leslie. She seems to have transferred all the affection she ever had for me to my wife. Now isn't that a situation for your life!

Some of these funny men who are always cartooning and joking about "How these women love each other" should read that sentence in Paula's letter where she says of Leslie: "It is not to you, John Prescott, that I owe my belief in a God and a feeling that somewhere, some time, some way everything will all be right, but to your wife."

Syd, I think that next to Leslie, Paula is the best woman I have ever known. Does that sound strange? She is a much better woman than I am a man. Her only folly as far as I have seen in the years I have known her is that she allowed herself to love such a good-for-nothing fellow as I am.

You know, old chap, that no one in the world knows my shortcomings as well as I do myself. I know them all and I never lie to myself about them. I never lie to you about them and today I have written to Leslie and made a clean breast of them. I am never able to talk about my shortcomings to Leslie, however. I always get angry—not so much at her as at myself—but it comes to the same thing, it hurts her. I think, however, I must also have some good points, for otherwise two such women as Leslie and Paula would not have loved me, and such a splendid old dear as you would not be my friend through thick and thin.

You called the turn, Syd, when you said that probably Paula would take back her offer of half her salary for little Jack, although I think now she has a very good excuse for not doing so. Her best bet is to forget him as well as me.

Did you ever know anyone that had changed as much as Paula? From being a fun-loving, irresponsible little minx, she has become a splendid, serious woman. She seems to have found herself.

I did not write to you much about Alice for I thought I would see you soon and then I could tell you all about her. Honestly, Syd, I think she is going crazy. I wonder just what it is that pushes the brain from sanity over the border-line to that place where madness lies. Really and truly, while I was angry enough at Alice to shake her when she objected so outrageously to her father's will, I could not help but find her exceedingly interesting. She was really a new kind of human being to me. I have thought of her and her moods many times since. I am exceedingly sorry for Karl Whitney. Having known and loved Leslie, to have had such a terrible thing happen to him as to have married Alice, is something that I am sure he does not deserve.

Letters Like This Prove the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Turtle Lake, Wisconsin.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness, backache and nervousness. I had these troubles for years and had taken other medicines for them, but I have found no medicine so good as the Vegetable Compound and I recommend it to my friends who have troubles similar to mine. I saw it advertised and thought I would try it and it has helped me in all my troubles. I have had six children and I have taken the Lydia E. Pinkham Vegetable Compound before each one was born, for weakness, vomiting, poor appetite and backache, and again after childbirth because of dizzy headaches. It is a good medicine for it always helps me. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for the last eight years for constipation."—Mrs. MABEL LA POINT, R. F. D. CYCLONE DESTROYS RAILROAD SHCP STACKS

Kaukauna—A small sized cyclone visited Kaukauna near midnight Friday and caused some damage at the Chicago and Northwestern railroad shops. Two of the large 30 foot stacks were blown over. One was bent and twisted in shapeless mass of metal while the other was broken off and turned upside down on top of the boiler house giving the appearance of four stacks instead of three. Preparations had just started Friday to repair the stacks. A "gin pole" had been set up and anchored to one of the stacks, which as a result was unharmed by the wind. It had been planned to add new tops to the stacks. Work on the construction of new stacks will be rushed, according to shop officials.

COMPLETE PLANS TO SUBDUCE CREEK

Kaukauna—For the first time in many years property in the vicinity of Konkapot creek has been free from the flood danger due to the subsidence of snow and the lack of spring rains. The creek still is a small rivulet flowing into the river. Unless there are exceptionally heavy rains on the way this year Konkapot creek is forever destined to be powerless for plans have already been completed whereby adequate provisions will be made to prevent future floods. The old stone bridge with its two small openings will be removed and the long span from the present Island bridge will be put in its place. The new arrangement will provide an opening approximately 100 feet wide. In addition the small bend in the creek on each side of the road will be straightened out and Konkapot creek will be at the command of man. The work will be started in a short time so there will be no danger of a flood next year.

HAD TO AMPUTATE MAN'S ARM AFTER AUTO COLLISION

Berne Wilson, Waupaca, is badly hurt in Wreck—Liquor Removed from Wreckage

Waupaca—Bernie Wilson, Waupaca electrical dealer, is minus an arm and injured so badly he may die as the result of a collision Thursday night in front of the A. D. Barnes residence on highway 13 just outside the city limits. His Ford touring car was struck by a Nash sedan driven by Walter Scott of the Sanitary meat market, Oshkosh. A bottle nearly full of moonshine was found in the wreckage of Wilson's car, according to Chief of Police Ware. Wilson was thrown through the windshield of his car against the glass in the doors of the Nash. His arm was so badly mutilated it was necessary to amputate the member a short time later at Christoferson hospital. At times it was thought the patient would die from loss of blood. Scott was returning to Oshkosh when he met Wilson who was said to be driving in the center of the road. The Nash was forced to take the ditch where one of the windows on the right side of the car was broken by a mail box. The Ford was completely demolished. The Nash had the left fenders and running board stripped off and all glass smashed on that side. Nobody in Scott's car was hurt and the occupants returned to Oshkosh the same night by train.

Conserving Man-Power

The machine illustrated here is a conservator of man power. The arduous job of digging holes and setting telephone poles is handled with speed and dispatch by this machine.

Time and labor saving devices of many kinds introduced into the telephone business have allowed men to other branches of the telephone business and allowed for the rapid expansion of the service which has been necessary.

Were it not for the constant improvement in the telephone art, rates would be much higher and telephone expansion would be far behind the demand for service.

Bills paid promptly are dealt with easily and opportunity for error is greatly lessened.

EXPECT TO FORM MOTORISTS CLUB FOR DRIVERS HERE

Promoters Plan to Organize Motorists in Every City
Over 5,000 Population

Organization of a motor-club as a branch of the Wisconsin State Motorists association and the American Automobile association is said to be in prospect here. Similar branches are being organized in other Wisconsin cities, and the plan is to have a population of 5,000 or more. Cities that already have clubs are Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Madison, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay, LaCrosse and Sheboygan. There are 700 clubs in the United States with a combined membership of about 1,000,000.

The object of these clubs is to protect car owners' interest in legislation, taxation, public safety as it affects children, pedestrians and motorists, and to be a collective influence in generally improving motoring conditions. The Wisconsin State Motorists association takes an aggressive part in traffic regulation and cooperates with police authorities. Tangible services rendered by the station association include free emergency road service by the 359 Wisconsin garages under contract routings, maps, a subscription to Motor News, and a motor emblem carrying the name of the local motor club, and initials of the state and national organizations.

The free emergency service means that affiliated garages will do 30 minutes of emergency repair work on the car of a member. Mr. Pettie pointed out. That applies to a car stalled on a highway. Gasoline will be delivered and tires changed by these garages, while cars will be pulled out of the ditch or towed into town, he said. The membership card also carries a police bail official automobile races in the United States are conducted by the American Automobile Association which has been in existence for 23 years.

STAGE AND SCREEN

ALMA RUBENS SCORES SUCCESS
IN "THE PRICE SHE PAID"

In "The Price She Paid," a Columbia Production featuring Alma Rubens, Frank Mayo and an all-star supporting cast, which comes to the New Bijou Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

It is the story of a young lady (Miss Rubens) who falls victim to a vain mother and insincere step-father, and is cast into the strange world of an undesirable husband. The life of gaiety that is part and parcel of youth's heritage is torn away from her and she finds herself in a world strangely different from the one she had always dreamed of. What could she do in such a predicament?

The situations involved here call upon Miss Rubens' highest qualities for interpretation, and her histrionic ability carries her through every delicate scene with rare effectiveness. In the opposing leading role, as an em-ment attorney who falls in love with her, Frank Mayo rises to the highest tempo of dramatic acting and does some of the best work of his career.

The supporting cast includes such able screen players as William Welch, Eugene Bressler, Lloyd Whitlock, Freeman Wood and Wilfred Lucas. Henry A. McRae, one of the leading directors in the industry, was entrusted with the direction.

PATSY RUTH MILLER STARS WITH PETERS

Patsy Ruth Miller, who played the role of Esmeralda opposite Lon Chaney in Victor Hugo's stupendous "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," comes also the Universal fold after an absence of more than two years to play the leading feminine role opposite House Peters in the latter's latest starring vehicle, "Head Winds," the Universal-Jewel feature showing at the Elite theatre.

In "Head Winds," Miss Miller is cast in the role of a society "bore," who threatens to "marry the other man" for spite, but is tricked into marrying the man she actually loves, John Peter Rosslyn, a wealthy yachtman as portrayed by House Peters.

In the play her two brothers, as played by Arthur Hoyt and William Austin, see the folly of Miss Miller's folly and through the means of a practical joke marry her off to "the man of her heart's choice."

It is a novel situation, especially different to cope with when she discovers that "her husband by force" has kidnapped her at sea.

MRS. BARTHELMLESS IN DICK'S
NEW FILM

Mary Hay, who appears opposite her famous husband, Richard Barthelmess, in his new First National production, "New Toys," which comes to the Elite theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is as well known as a charming dancer as she is as a delightful comedienne.

Miss Hay has a fascinating dancing interlude in "New Toys," when she appears in some society theatricals in an outdoor theatre. It is here she fascinates Will Webb, played by Mr. Barthelmess. Small wonder, too, for Miss Hay appears as a blonde dancing sprite in a piquant elfish costume.

"WAGES OF VIRTUE"

Without question, the most colorful of all Gloria Swanson's starring pictures for Paramount is "Wages of Virtue," the new Allan Dwan production, which will be shown at the Appleton Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The story is a romantic drama, into which the star and director have introduced many light comedy touches, written by Carl Percival Christopher Wren, adapted to the screen by Forrest Inacey.

Most of the action of the production takes place in the little Algerian barrack town of Sidi-Bel-Abbes, where the French Foreign Legion is stationed. It is in this sequence of scenes that you see splendid Spanish, romantic looking Chasseurs d'Afrique, burnoused Arabs, and swagging Turcos, arrogant in fez and frock coats, mingling with the soldiers of the Legion. In the barracks are the merchants, the Greek "kuskus" sellers, the coffee vendors, the peddlers of water, the bootblacks in their French "borots," and the little black newsboys, naked except for white trousers, carrying their bundles of "echoes, d'Oran," and scuttling out of the way or huge, clumsy wagons piled high with purple stained casks of Algerian wine.

Easter Dance, Black Greek Auditorium, Wed., April 15th. Menning's Orchestra.

$93,000 TAX ON GASOLINE BOUGHT FROM PUMPS HERE

Nearly 5,000,000 Gallons of Auto Fuel Sold in Appleton in 1924

If as much gasoline is purchased in Appleton during the twelve months beginning April 1 as was bought in the year 1924, the purchasers will pay a total of $93,428 in gas taxes. A small allowance must, however, be made for the gasoline that is purchased by farmers for use in tractors, gas engines etc., as that is tax exempt.

The foregoing tax of $93,428 is computed on the basis of a check of gasoline sales compiled for the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. The number of gallons bought at the many filling stations and gas pumps in 1924 was 4,671,450, on which a gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon would have been paid if the present law had been in effect on Jan. 1, 1924, instead of April 1 of this year.

Not all of that $93,428 tax would have been paid by Appleton motorists however, for local stations supplied automobiles from the surrounding localities and tourist cars as well. On the other hand, Appleton motorists would have to consider the money they spent for filling their tanks while on trips.

3,768 CARS HERE

Just what Appleton's quota of the gasoline tax which will be used for highway purposes would amount to, is difficult to determine. According to a count made by A. C. Rule, city assessor, 3,768 state licenses were issued for Appleton automobiles and trucks during the year 1924, and the present year will undoubtedly show a larger number.

Mr. Rule estimates that of the total number approximately 300 are motor trucks. Some estimate that the average automobilist uses about 400 gallons of gasoline a year. The amount used by trucks is indefinite. At the rate of 2 cents a gallon the average automobilist would pay a tax of about $8 a year; the tax, therefore, for Appleton motorists, exclusive of truck operators, would approximate $27,000 a year. From this figure, it is evident that the greatest portion of gas tax would be paid in Appleton would come out of the pockets of non-residents. The $27,000 tax would be augmented by the Appleton motor truck tax, and the tax that Appleton motorists would pay in other communities while filling their tanks on a trip.

PUT 2-CENT STAMP ON CARDS AFTER APRIL 15

Postal cards other than the regular government cards now in use must bear 2 cent stamps after April 15, when the new postal rates go into effect. There will be many return postcards, sent out by merchants with their circulars and other advertising matter, outstanding when the new rates become effective. The post office department says in a warning to all postmasters, and urges that notices be sent out to avoid confusion.

Within a reasonable time after the new rates become effective, the extra cent may be collected from the addressee if delivery of the card would be delayed by notifying the sender.

Want New Street Plans To Be Ready By Wednesday

New plans and specifications for pavements to be built on the 1925 program are being rushed to completion as quickly as possible. In an effort to have them ready for presentation to the city council at the next regular meeting Wednesday evening, according to R. M. Connelly, city engineer. The old plans which were discarded by the council on petition of First, Third and Fifth ward property owners must be changed to conform to the new principle adopted for plating street intersections, and it is possible that engineers may spoil them to such an extent that entirely new drawings will have to be made.

The work of redrawing the plans, however, according to Mr. Connelly, will not require as much time as the originals, because much of the platting and calculation can be left as it is.

After the plans are completed the board of public works will consider them and if they are satisfactory they will be presented to the city council, which may accept or reject them. The board of public works will then have to readvertise for bids, assess benefits and damages to adjoining property and consider complaints or objections that come up.

LIONS HEAR TALK BY CITY MANAGER

Henry Traxler, city manager at Janesville, will be the speaker at the meeting of Appleton Lions club on Monday, April 20. Mr. Traxler will discuss the managerial form of government.

According to reports from Janesville, there has been a reduction in taxation in Janesville since the managerial form of government was established. In spite of large paving programs and expenditures of big sums for other public improvements, Mr. Traxler is expected to tell how this was accomplished.

Nominations of officers will be made at the luncheon meeting next Monday. Walter Joyce and J. P. Plank are in charge of arrangements for the program.

My youth and beauty helps
By Edna Wallace Hopper

For 40 years I have searched the world for the best beauty helps in existence. I spent nine years in France. And countless experts elsewhere have given me their best.

Those helps made me a famous beauty. They have retained my youth and beauty. The thousands who see me daily on the stage marvel at my bloom.

Now the best I found is placed at every woman's call. Toilet counters everywhere supply them. And I gladly send to all who ask a sample of any for test. I urge every girl and woman to try, at my cost, the matchless helps I found.

My rosy bloom

I found in France a liquid cleanser, used by famous beauties there. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. I call this product my Facial Youth. One use will give you a new conception of what a clean skin means.

I use a super-cream called my Youth Cream. It contains a dozen ingredients which experts have advised for me. This includes products of both lemon and strawberry. Also the best that science knows to foster, feed and protect the skin. A test of Youth Cream will amaze and delight you.

White Youth Clay

Clay is the greatest help that women can employ. But not the crude and muddy clays so many have applied. I use a clay which is the final result of 20 years of scientific study. It is white, refined and dainty. And it combines many helps beside clay. I call it my White Youth Clay. It purges the skin of all that clogs and

LAWRENCE STEPS CAREFULLY AS IT REVISES SYSTEM

Although no definite action has been taken on the adoption of a new and more liberal social program for the Lawrence college, there has been much canvassing and investigation of the subject, according to Wilson S. Naylor, acting president, so when action is taken it will not be a blind step in the dark.

About 550 letters were sent to parents of students to determine their reaction to the proposed steps. The replies have come in and the majority are in favor of the new social system. Dr. Naylor declared, "Letters also have been sent to the alumni and replies from these are slowly coming in. The immediate problem, Dr. Naylor believes, is to work out some sort of action that will eliminate the difficulties suggested by the protests received among the letters."

Hundreds of automobiles from the surrounding community are expected here Monday night bringing people to hear the chorus. Publicity has been widespread over a radius of 50 miles announcing that one evening would be set aside for them.

The chapel is not entirely sold out for Monday night and good seats still may be had at Belling drug store. No charge is made on Sunday evening.

GOVERNOR JOINS WITH COOLIDGE TO PRESERVE FORESTS

Blaine Issues Proclamation
Setting Aside Forestry
Week

Madison—Observance of arbor and bird day has "a pronounced economic aspect" as well as sentimental lessons, Governor John J. Blaine stated in his proclamation issued today, joining with President Coolidge in his proclamation declaring April 27 to May 3 as American Forest Week and designating May 1 as Arbor and Bird Day.

Suitable exercises and activities on the part of citizens of Wisconsin in observance in connection with the occasions were recommended. The governor also expressed the hope that observance of Arbor and Bird Day in the schools would be more extended than ever before.

The text of the proclamation follows:

"The custom of many years to set aside a day in the spring for the observance of Arbor Day has called to our minds the importance in our daily lives of trees, birds and the outdoors. The importance of these resources is steadily increasing. The time was when the lessons springing from this day were almost entirely of a sentimental nature, but as these resources of forest and marsh, field and stream tend to become depleted before a steadily increasing demand, we find a pronounced economic aspect attaching to the observance of Arbor and Bird Day. The planting and culture of trees, the closer utilization, the proper methods of cutting, and the protection of existing merchantable forests, and of prospective forest growth, are activities that we may well consider, for the day of great virgin forest abundance has passed. Similarly, the conservation of bird life more and more appeals to us because of the important economic consideration in the balance of natural laws and processes. The conservation of our native landscape and especially of outstanding places of scenic value, assumes a growing seriousness before the steady march of modern development. In fact, all conservation which two generations ago was entirely a matter of sentiment, and which now, and very properly, has a strong sentimental appeal to all of us, has gradually changed into a leading economic question. The conservation of natural resources vitally affects the enjoyment and the possibilities of earning a livelihood of the entire population.

"In calling attention to these considerations I would not minimize the pleasing and happy attitude of mind that Arbor and Bird Day has always brought to our schools, and I hope that its observance this year among the school children of the state will be more extended than ever before.

"The president of the United States, by proclamation, has designated the week of April 27 to May 3 as American Forest Week. The task of forest restoration on suitable lands, and in a manner compatible with our needs, lies before us. It is an important undertaking. The citizens of this state have authorized state participation in this work. In my recent message to the legislature, I recommended a special legislative committee to make a thorough investigation of this entire subject and the next logical and official step in the working out of a comprehensive forestry program for our state. We have set our hand to the task.

"Now, therefore, I, John J. PROSPECTS FOR ORGANIZED LABOR NONE TOO BRIGHT

Not Enough Business in Next Ten Years to Keep Everyone Busy

Babson Park, Mass.—There have been hard strikes and labor troubles so far this year than in the corresponding period during any of the past ten years according to the figures compiled on labor conditions by Roger W. Babson, statistician and business authority.

"The fact that we are singularly free from labor troubles is no mere accident," says the statistician, "but is the result of certain fundamental conditions that are bound to affect the trend of trade unionism during the next ten years. Without taking for certain economic laws exist that are to control things whether we like the results or not and it now looks as though the trade unions of America will have 'poor business' for awhile like most other enterprises which have been very prosperous during the past ten years.

"During the war we greatly increased our capacity to produce all sorts of manufactured goods. We expanded far beyond our own needs and can now make about 60 per cent more goods than we have a domestic market for. It will be some years before we grow to our expanded producing capacity and in the meantime the only chance we have to run at full capacity is to sell the tremendous surplus abroad. The prospects for doing this are not especially good just now. Europe owes us twenty billion dollars and the only way they can possibly pay is in goods. The prospects for foreign trade during the next ten years, then, are that we are more liable to find foreign goods competing in our markets than that we will be able to sell any sizable surplus abroad. This does not necessarily mean that there is little likelihood of our entering a period when buyers will be fighting for goods and when we will have great trouble in supplying a demand.

"Organized labor is most successful in a market where the demand for men exceeds the supply. It is under these circumstances that workers, highly organized, are able to enforce their demands. If the manufacturer has a large volume of orders taken on a profitable basis he will meet demands for shorter hours and higher pay in order to get the work out but when he has only about half enough work to keep his plant busy and has had to figure very closely to get that he is both financially unable and mentally indisposed to grant any demands that will increase his costs and wipe out such small profit as he has left. Under the first circumstances the labor union makes its demand and gains its point and an immediate advantage for its members; under the second it succeeds only in calling a strike and throwing its members out of work for a protracted period.

"During the next ten years there is not going to be enough business to keep everybody busy all the time and the manufacturer who is working under the most favorable conditions will get the business; the manufacturer who is working under the least favorable will be shut down. We have had an illustration of this principle in the coal fields this last season. The non-union mines have been able to produce coal more cheaply than the union mines and as a result the non-union mines have been busy and the workers as a whole have made a good living. Workers in these non-union fields have made as high as $3825 for the year and when you figure rent and doctors' services as supplied by the companies at a cost of $200 for the year there is enough left to buy all necessities and many luxuries. The union mines in the meantime have been shut down and the union miner has been having a rather thin time of it. I do not state this case as an argument against trade unionism nor as a plea for the open shop but simply as an illustration of the manner in which these economic laws work. Many things connected with unionism are highly desirable. Collective bargaining and certain reforms in working conditions have helped every one. The union which is reasonable and which works to improve conditions without curtailing or increasing costs will thrive even under these new circumstances. The work being done in Cleveland by the garment workers, for instance, is sound. Here the unions and the employers have joined in hiring engineers to come in from the outside and study the various operations in order to determine reasonable compensations for each kind of work. Both abide by the findings of these engineers and the reforms that have resulted

Puzzlement Is Prevailing Mental Condition Of Trade

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
New York—Puzzlement is the prevailing mental condition about business. For this the business world may thank the stock market. Nowhere in this world is there at the present moment a more bewildered and uncertain set of men than are to be found in Wall Street at the present time.

It is being said that business is now about rounding out another six months' cycle. In November stocks started in an upward swing. They continued up for about two and a half months remained stationary or wobbly for a month and then started down. In another three weeks this cycle should be complete with stocks at their lowest point at the end of April.

Now I am not subscribing to this theory. It may be that the cycle idea will work out this way. But the point
I am interested in making is that this is a stock cycle and not a business cycle. Business has been going through no such movement. While the stock market has been leaping forward and then striking back, the world of industry and trade has been slowly moving forward. There have been some slumps in industry here and there. Some of them are due to season causes. Others are the reflex of the stock boom. But industry and trade as a whole are moving along a very slightly rising line.

Such disturbances as one sees in industry—save such as are purely seasonal—are the result of one thing.
That is inflation. When the stock market started soaring some business men for the moment forgot their caution. They got to believing that there was to be a period of rapidly expanding business. They started in with heavy production schedules based on that belief. The steel industry, with all its wisdom, was one of these. As the months went on the rate of consumption did not develop as fast as they supposed. As a result they found themselves up against the need for curtailment. The same thing applies to the soft coal industry. The brief session of security speculation made the operators think good times were ahead. They were lured into over-production and now they are facing serious curtailment. It is the abandonment of over-optimistic programs that is now causing many observers to talk about business depression. What is actually going on is a return of those industries which got out of step to a place in the procession.

HELPED BY OUR MONEY
It is fortunate at this time that our money supplies are plentiful. This has kept interest rates down, including call money rates. If this were not so we would have seen many stock speculators forced to turn loose their holding with still more disastrous results in the market.

ADVENTURES IN PRICES
The success of stock speculators in pushing up stock prices encouraged many manufacturers to attempt the same thing with commodities. But here again they found that they were forcing things out of line with the economic situation. The public is in no mood for a buying strike. With increasing employment people want to buy. But merchants are indisposed to irritate customers with price boosts.
Hence manufacturers and producers attempting price advances have met with resistance in the trade. Thus it will be seen that here too what seems like a set back is nothing more than a return to more reasonable and sensible march forward.

TRAFFIC MOVING FAST
We are continually warned not to put too much reliance on railroad traffic as a barometer of business.
The fact remains however that it is one important indication of trade.

The greatest number of cars on record for this season of the year were loaded with revenue freight during the first three months of the year, according to reports filed by the carriers with the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association.

The total for that period, which includes the period from Jan. 1 to March 28, was 11,765,235 cars. This exceeded by 177,224 cars or 1.5 per cent the corresponding period last year which had marked the previous high record for this season of the year. It also exceeded by 148,495 cars or 4 per cent in the corresponding period in 1923.

LOANS AND DISCOUNTS
Loans, investments and deposits have decreased. At the Federal Reserve Banks, loans declined $71,000,- 000 in a week. Deposits dropped $291,000,000. Loans by brokers on securities are estimated to have fallen about $400,000,000 in the last month.
This is not to be lamented. Brokers loans were too high. The market was over-borrowed. That condition is now corrected.

FARM PROSPECTS BRIGHT
The Department of Agriculture says this is the first spring in five years when there is a general evidence of farm stimulation. Save in cattle there are no big agricultural surprises left. The movement of farmers to the city is reduced showing that farmers feel it safer to remain on their farms. The chief peril now seen is the danger of crop expansion.

Reports show that farmers plan to increase the acreage of the principal food crops by nearly 7,000,000 acres
above that grown for harvest last year.
while the outlook is for smaller numbers of livestock to consume the crop.

"It seems doubtful," the department says, "if the general expansion of production contemplated by farmers would be to their best interests.
Increased returns for the crops of 1924 were due largely to reduced supplies, either in this country or abroad, rather than to any increase in demand. The outlook indicates that any marked expansion in most lines would tend to lower prices and result in less satisfactory returns to farmers."

Every one seems to be quite sure that the building boom has passed its crest. Outside of New York construction seems to be continuing its increase, but with New York included, the general total shows a decline. But no one should conclude because the amount of construction permitted for reveals a decline that this will have any immediate effect on the general condition of employment in the building business. I have said several times that there is enough building to keep this industry fully employed for the rest of the year. Nothing has happened since to induce me to change this opinion.

With returns from 152 cities included, the total expenditure for March is shown to have been $325,- 322,225, as compared with $305,649,- 192 in the identical cities for March a year ago and $255,332,676 in February of this year. There is shown a gain of 27 per cent over February, but a decrease of 16.3 per cent from March, 1924. Explanation of this decrease from March year ago is had largely in the total at New York for that month. This city, with all five boroughs reporting, records a total of only $52,552,781 for March, as against $62,817,117 in January and $148,513,-

SHARP DECREASE IN COAL IN STORAGE

The Railway age estimates in an editorial in its current issue that the supply of coal in storage in the country on April 1 was about 24 million tons less than it was on April 1, 1924. It expresses the opinion it is highly expedient for consumers to increase their orders to prevent further depletion of storage supplies.

"As a result of the large production of bituminous coal in 1923," says the Railway Age, "there were in storage on January 1, 1924, about 62 million tons. This exceeded all previous accumulated stocks except on Armistice Day and on April 1, 1922, when the great coal strike began. In the first eight months of 1924 consumption exceeded production. The latest data for which the United States Geological Survey has compiled statistics regarding the amount in storage is September 1, 1924, and at that time it was 56 million tons.

"What has occurred since then?
During the last four months of 1924
general business activity was at least as great as in the corresponding month of 1923, but the amount of bituminous coal produced in these months was 6,700,000 tons less than in the corresponding months of 1923.
Owing to this smaller production
there is strong reason to believe that the amount stored on January 1, 1925, was no larger than on September 1, 1924. Again, between January 1 and April 1, 1925, general business was at least as active as last year, but the amount of coal produced was 9,000,000 tons less than in the corresponding part of last year. It would appear, therefore, that on January 1, 1925 the amount of coal stored must have been only about 47 million tons, or 15 million tons less than on January 1, 1924, and that, because of the continued relatively small production
in the first three months of this year, there must have been approximately 37 million tons less in storage on April 1, 1925 than on April 1, 1924."

RAILROAD EMPLOYMENT MORE STABLE LAST YEAR
The movement for stabilizing employment on the railways already is producing substantial results according to the Railway Age which says:
"A movement was definitely started last year to stabilize employment in railway service. A committee was appointed by the Association of Railway Executives to cooperate with the Interstate Commerce Commission in studying the subject.

It is interesting to find from a comparison of the statistics month by month that employment on the railways actually was much more stable in 1924 than in 1923. This was the case in spite of the fact that fluctuations in the volume of freight business were relatively very small in 1923 and much larger in 1924.

"The number of men employed in 1923 varied from 1,773,516 in January to 1,973,508 in August, a difference of 199,992. In 1924 it increased from 1, 749,927 in January to 1,822,816 in October and then declined to 1,736,698,
the maximum fluctuation being only 59,971. Large as is the decline from October to December, it was less than in the corresponding period of 1923 when the reduction in the number of employees was 142,715.

"The number of men employed in
the maintenance of way and structures department always has been subject to wide seasonal variations.
The maximum fluctuation in employees in this department in 1923 was 145,558 while in 1924 it was only 33,- 468.

"To what extent changes in conditions and changes in policy, respectively, caused the fluctuations to be so much less last year than the year before it is impossible to say, but the efforts being deliberately made by the managements to bring about greater stability produced much of the result cannot be questioned."

562 in March last year a gain of 25.4
per cent over February, but a loss of 52.5 per cent from March a year ago.
350.12 is recorded, as against $185,-
350.12 is recorded, as against $185,- 566,555 in February and $216,435,327
in March last year, gains of respectively 35.3 and 16.1 per cent from February this year and March, 1924.

Chickering

JENNY LIND, the darling of Europe, the first marvelous foreign singer America had ever known, made her debut at Castle Garden, New York, September 11, 1850.

At this concert her accompaniments were played upon a Chickering. She was so charmed by this famous piano that she would have no other played for her during the triumphant tour she afterward made in this country.

The appreciation of this great piano by an artist so wonderful is but an instance of the esteem in which the Chickering has been held by a long line of famous musicians right down to our own day. And now it is contributing to the success of Dohnányi, Liszt, Copeland, Mirovitch, Schnitzer and many other great artists.

Chickering prices from $500 to $5000.

M'AUILLIFFE, BELOIT STAR, NEW HIGH SCHOOL COACH

Succeeds Kevin Who Will Train Athletes In New Junior School

Board of Education Brings One of Greatest Athletes of Middle West Here to Direct High School Teams

John McAuliffe, one of the greatest athletes ever produced at Beloit college, will be director of athletics at Appleton high school next year succeeding Jule Kevin who has been transferred to the position of athletic director in one of the new high schools. Mr. Kevin has tentatively accepted the contract offered him, it was said. A contract has been sent by the board of education to Mr. McAuliffe, at Madison, S. D., where he was director of athletics but the document, with McAuliffe's signature, has not been returned. Word from Madison, however, indicates that McAuliffe has accepted the proposition made to him by the Appleton board.

Mr. Kevin, who coached high school athletic teams this year, came here from LaCrosse Normal school. This was his first year as a coach. Kevin was an all-around athletic star in high school and normal school. It has not been determined to which school Kevin will be assigned. The board of education now is endeavoring to secure an athletic director for the other school.

Announcement that McAuliffe would be in charge of athletics at the high school here was greeted with considerable enthusiasm. The Beloit star proved his ability to coach athletic teams when he piloted the Madison, S. D., basketball team to the state championship this year and his football team was one of the strongest in his state.

McAuliffe was a star in football, basketball and track at Beloit. He was one of the most feared football players in the Little Five and Midwest conferences and Beloit halls still ring with stories of his athletic feats.

The new Appleton coach played quarterback on the Beloit team for three seasons from 1922-24, was center on the basketball team for the same time and was a member of the championship track squad of the state line school for three years.

On the grid "Mac" kicked, passed and ran the ball with equal brilliance. His generalship was flawless and his sportsmanship won him many friends in opposing camps. For three years the McAuliffe to Addie pass was the biggest worry of coaches of the State and Midwest conferences. Mac was the unanimous choice of sport writers for the quarterback post on mythical eleven in 1923 and 1924. He captained the Beloit Midwest grid champs in 1921.

His record in basketball is still more outstanding. He played center on the championship Blue Devils for three years, being the center of the entire team. He also has the record of being in the best of physical condition and will be able to get out in a suit to demonstrate his point to the Orange hopes.

In track he was equally as good. His pole vaulting usually meant a first place for Beloit. He holds the college, state and Midwest mark in this event at 12 feet 1 inch. He set the mark when the Millmen copped the Midwest meet in 1923. He ran the low and high hurdles and was always good for seconds and thirds and sometimes first in this event. His ability as a sprinter was shown when he performed with the crack relay team of Addie, Nesbitt, Thompson and McAuliffe, which set a new state and Beloit college record last spring, turning the distance in 1 minute and 34 seconds. Mac also is a high jumper of ability and often picked up extra points for Mills in this event when they were needed to win a close meet. He helped Beloit win to three of four successful state championships.

Mac came to Beloit in 1922 from Montana with two other star athletes who have helped make Beloit famous in all athletic contests. His slim build did not impress until he showed his stuff. In the classroom and on the street, McAuliffe has made many friends. His scholastic standings were far above the average and exceptionally good for an athlete. He is the ideal brainy type of coach. He is a close friend of H. H. Helbo, new Appleton high school principal, and former student and instructor at Beloit.

BADGER TRACKMEN MEET PICK OF COAST TODAY

Berkeley, Calif.—Teams representing the universities of Wisconsin and California and the southern California all-stars were ready to toe the marks in a triangular track meet in California oval Saturday afternoon.

Coach Tom Jones, Wisconsin athletes have been here for several days warming up and he expects them to excel when the home team with its big meet against Stanford only a week away is in mid-season form. Coach Walter Christie says.

The Southern California entries are a composite team from the smaller colleges in that section. They include several men of national reputation among them Graham of California Tech, who took second place in the pole vault in the Olympic games at Paris.

Heavy rains Friday made the footing uncertain, though it was hoped that the weather would remain clear long enough to dry out the field. The meet was scheduled to start at 1:30 p. m.

Two Real Stars Roush and Wingo Rate With Best in Old League

TOP TO BOTTOM, EDDIE ROUSH AND IVY WINGO

Two of the best bats on the Cincinnati club are the oldest players in point of service on the team. Captain Eddie Roush and Catcher Ivy Wingo. Roush has been in the majors continuously since 1916 and Wingo since 1911.

Roush, despite his many years of service, is still the National League's best outfielder, while Wingo has few superiors back of the plate.

They form the Red's board of strategy with Manager Hendricks.

40 BOWLERS ROLL IN ELK DOUBLE TOURNEY

Forty bowlers have hit the drives in the whirligig tournament being conducted at the Elk alleys up to the present date, records show. The tourney closes on April 15 and prizes will be distributed at that time. One of every five bowlers entered will receive a prize at the close because of the large prize list. Any bowler in the city is eligible to compete, rolling as often as he likes but with a different partner each time.

THIRD AMATEUR BALL CLUB ORGANIZED IN APPLETON

Still another amateur baseball team will appear on the local diamonds this summer when the Appleton Dodgers complete their organization. This will make at least three high class squads in the city to start with and there are good prospects for more. The Dodgers lost only two games of a hard schedule in 1924 and will put the same team, with one or two new men, in the field when the season starts. Among their victims last year were the strong teams representing the Oshkosh Postoffice and the local W. T. L. H. and P. Co. A challenge already has been issued to the Beyer Sentinels, composed of stars of the 1924 Homeplayers circuit.

Only nine men have been signed to date by the Dodgers. They are: Becke, E. Reetz, and O. Meltz, outfielders; Bernhardt, pitcher; J. Shapiro, first base; O. Fenske, shortstop; J. Fenske, second base; L. Hiers, third base; E. Douglas, catcher. Manager Shapiro now is on the trail of several promising players.

Major League Ball Clubs Are Ready For Start Of New Season

Senators and New York Giants Strong, but Have Stiffer Opposition Than in 1924 Season

New York—The nation's baseball hangeder hosts meagerly fed on winter dope are preparing to end the long fast and take their accustomed places Tuesday at the opening of the annual feast spread by the two major leagues.

Pandemonium will see most of the clubs returning from the training camps of the south with few lineup changes. Here and there a recruit from the "bushes" has made the grade, displacing some veteran, but for the most part the eight teams under the big league tents will be made up of familiar faces.

The National League will celebrate its golden jubilee this year. Series to commemorate its fiftieth birthday will be held in every city in the circuit at some time during the season. The outstanding celebration being assigned to Boston, when the Braves and Cubs meet, May 8.

The American League, founded in 1900 inaugurates its twenty-sixth campaign Tuesday.

The paramount issue on the eve of the opening of the league campaigns is—Will the 1924 pennant winners repeat? If McGraw pilots the Giants to another pennant it will be the fifth straight flag for the New York club under his management. In winning the 1924 flag, McGraw created a record in the major leagues. Though there is no reason to doubt that the New York Giants and the Washington Senators are as strong as they were last season, it is expected the opposition will be stiffer this year.

The Chicago Cubs who fell off noticeably during the latter half of last season are expected to be in the fight from the start despite the injury which will keep "Rabbit" Maravilla, star infielder, out of the game until May 1. The Reds will start with high hopes and reports from Boston declare that Bancroft has assembled the best aggregation since 1914. Philadelphia and St. Louis are not expected to be in the thick of the fight after mid-season.

The acquisition of Urban Shocker to the pitching staff and the sensational training camp play of Earl Combs, former Louisville star, will give the Yankees a strengthened team.

Although himself on the sick list, Ty Cobb has gathered around him a celebrated array of talent, and strong opposition is promised by the Detroit team this year.

Eddie Collins celebrating his first year as a major league pilot has an uncertain quantity in the Chicago White Sox.

Another local amateur baseball team made its bow when the Appleton Dodgers reorganized. Add Beyer's Sentinels and the Fox River Paper Co. squad and Appleton will be well represented on the diamond this year. And we have a well-founded hunch that now that the movement is started, several more teams will take to the diamond. Several younger boys' club are in the preliminary stage of organization.

Jack Johnson and Andre Anderson, little ol' pals from boyhood, seemingly can't bear to leave each other. Once upon a time, as all fairy tales start, they were sparring partners. The heavy blows that Jack landed on Andre's dome in those days make nice reading when they are scheduled to wrestle. Anyway, they're at it again—lining the purse by a few minutes of fooling. And the valley doesn't seem to get enough of it. They meet at Oshkosh Wednesday. They bunked and disgusted Green Bay fans and then came here, Anderson, not scheduled to wrestle here forced his name on the card through Johnson's partnership and almost spoiled the whole evening for the fans by his disgusting work. And now the two pals fight each other again for the 65th or 66th time being a youngster, I forgot which, at the Sawdust city! As Barnum said, "Hot stuff!"

Oshkosh high is preparing for a real track season. Mass meetings of the basketball and football type are being held and class teams are working out under their captains and Coach Abrahamson. "Ab" in a speech recently told the Sawdust city boys of ten and fifteen years ago when track work was popular and showed how it had died out. He told of Arlie Hicks and Eber Simpson, two of the best money Oshkosh ever sent to the state U. Both still hold records in the weights and hurdles. Ab is trying to get every man to specialize in a special event until he becomes proficient in it. If the Oshkosh tracksters go good at the Lawrence meet, they will be sent to the state meet at Madison. Other meets contemplated are the Stevens Point normal and Marquette contests. That's the right spirit and we should have more of it here. Only twice in our short life do we recall teams at Madison and both made fine showings. One year Dan Courtney went 20 feet 11 inches in the broad jump in the Lawrence meet here and not even he was sent to Madison as a representative of the Orange for his fine work. The winner at the Madison meet only went 19 feet 11 inches that year!

Louis Loose, Kimberly-Clark cager, played a stellar game for the Kohlers of Sheboygan in a game in which they lost the city championship to the Mathews Flowers recently. He caged two neat baskets. Though far past his prime the boy still has several fast games of basketball to work out of his system and is a valuable member of any team. He was chosen all-state forward at the Racine tournament recently for his basket-shooting ability.

Kahn, Jawson, Head Bay Fight Program

Green Bay—Harry Kahn, sensational Milwaukee southpaw boxer and Joe Jawson, George Ryan's veteran lightweight, also of Milwaukee, will be featured in the main bout of the American Legion boxing show to be held here April 27. Rubie Schipper, Oshkosh Normal school football tackle who made a hit here by knocking Eddie Stack in a round at the last show, will draw a better assignment on the card. His opponent has not yet been selected. The Kahn-Jawson bout is sure to set a new attendance record for boxing shows here as both the Milwaukee boys are now at the top of their form and fans hereabouts are keen to see them in a windup match.

NEW YORK BALL CLUBS IN FIRST HOME GAMES OF 1925

New York—New York Saturday interrupted its every day affairs for a brief period to greet its homecoming major league baseball teams in their first appearances in the 1925 campaign. At the Polo grounds the Giants and Senators thwarted by rain in Washington Friday were billed to renew the feud which began in the 1924 world series while at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, the Yankees and Brooklyn Robins were to lock in the sixteenth game of their touring test. The Tanks have already clinched the better series, nine to six, with only two games remaining to be played.

The Giants also have the edge on the team of Bucky Harris, six to four, with two games to be played in New York.

PIRATES COP COSTLY GAME FROM LITTLE ROCK, 7 TO 6

Pittsburg, Pa.—The Pirates defeated the Travelers 7 to 6 at Little Rock, Ark. Friday but their victory might prove a costly one. Al Niehaus, their young first baseman, injured his right leg and might not be able to play in the opening game at Chicago Tuesday.

CHICAGO BALL NINES BUSY WITH A. A. TEAMS

Chicago—The Chicago Cubs had a close shave in Kansas City Friday when the Kaws drummed up a ninth inning rally and the Chicagoans barely escaped with a 5 to 4 victory. Rain which has pursued the White Sox across Indiana prevented the same scheduled with Terre Haute Friday. A two-game series with Indianapolis starts Saturday.

Come to the American Legion Easter Ball at the Kimberly Club House, Tues., April 14th. Music by the Mellorimbass. Busses leave for Appleton and Kaukauna at 1 A. M.

SEVERAL DIAMOND VETS NEARING END OF LEAGUE SERVICE

Cobb, Collins, Johnson, Speaker and Others Soon to Pass from Picture

BY BILLY EVANS

In perhaps less than five years baseball will be losing several outstanding stars.

Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Walter Johnson, Eddie Collins and a half dozen other celebrities will soon be passing out of the sport picture.

Walter Johnson would have retired this year had he been able to purchase a satisfactory minor league franchise. Ty Cobb has announced that he doesn't expect to play over 100 games in 1925.

Who is going to take the place of these players who have done so much to make baseball the game that it is? DISAPPOINTED WITH RECRUITS

Frankly, I have been greatly disappointed with the big league recruits I have looked over in the spring training camps. The situation has been much the same for several years. There seems to be a dearth of first class major league material.

Frank Frisch is really the only truly great ball player who has come to the front in the last five years. Frisch is a remarkable player. It seems such players come just every so often. Perhaps no better illustration could be offered to prove the scarcity of big league material, than the fact that the real stars in both major leagues, with a very few exceptions, are veteran players.

It is the exception for a recruit to show enough ability in spring training to win a berth as a regular. Of all the recruit players I saw in action this spring, I didn't see a single one who looked to have the ability to crowd out any of the regulars.

I observed perhaps a dozen players who satisfied me they had the ability to deliver in the big show but none of them appeared quite ready.

Connie Mack has a worth-while battery in "Lefty" Groves and Gordon Cochrane. The ability of Groves is too well known to need comment. He has plenty of stuff. If he can get the ball over he will win consistently for Mack. Cochrane is a mighty good catcher right now and will show improvement.

The Boston Braves have a corking good looking third baseman in Bill Marriot from the Southern Association. He is scheduled to start at that position.

LOOKS LIKE STAR

Shortstop Tavenor of Detroit is a ball hawk. His hitting is a question but he will be retained. Cobb regards him as most promising.

There are perhaps a dozen others I could name who are big leaguers in the making. However, I saw close to 100 ball players in the training camps so far removed from the big league standard that I wondered how a conscientious scout could send them up for trial.

Unquestionably there is a scarcity of big league timber. The reason is difficult of explanation. Possibly golf is using up as caddies many a big league possibility in the making.

APPLETON K. P. PIN MEN IN STATE MEET

Appleton will be represented by three full teams in the state Knights of Pythias bowling meet which will be held in Milwaukee on April 18 and 19. Members of the teams also will compete in the doubles and single events.

The teams are as follows:

Knights of Pythias, No. 1—W. C. Jacobson, H. W. Martlett, David Smith, G. L. Carleton and H. DeBauer.

Knights of Pythias, No. 2—Seymour Gmeiner, W. Gmeiner, George Schmidt, Fred Heinemann and Fred Schlitz.

Knights of Pythias, No. 3—C. Ebnke, T. Belling, T. Brunke, W. Wetzel and R. Nelson.

Milwaukee—Eddie (Cannonball) Martin, an ex-champion, is a stellar attraction in Milwaukee. At least, this is the contention of Frank Mulken, matchmaker of the leading club here.

The winner of Monday night's 10-round tussle between Eddie Anderson, the Wyoming cowboy, and Rushy Graham, Uteia, will draw Martin here for the next show, says Mulken. Anderson and Graham are to precede Pete Sarmiento and Joey Sanzor in the first half of the double win-dup at the Auditorium.

Dauber Jaeger, Fond du Lac, will referee in the first two bouts between Joe Azzarella and Frankie Burns, local lightweights, and in the 10 rounder between Anderson and Graham.

Walter Houlihan, the local arbiter, will referee the main bout.

WISDOM TEETH GENERALLY APPEAR BETWEEN THE EIGHTEENTH AND TWENTY-FIFTH YEAR

The sea otter takes several years to grow to maturity. Only one pup is born to a female each year.

A machine, much like a typewriter, has been invented for writing music.

JIM CROWLEY BACK IN HOSPITAL AGAIN

South Bend, Ind.—Jimmy Crowley, Green Bay boy and backfield star of the famous Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, who has been in hospitals most of the time since his collapse after the New Year's day Tournament of Roses game in California, is again in a hospital. He is receiving treatment for a stomach ailment.

After his breakdown on the coast, he spent a few weeks in a California hospital, returning to Green Bay for a rest, before going back to school. He had been in good health since that time.

The Kentucky Aces will positively appear at Big 5 Dance, Tues., April 14. Eagles Hall, 50c person.

STUDENTS WRITE MUSICAL COMEDY FOR TORMENTORS

Lawrence Dramatic Organization
Will Produce Musical
Play June 1

After a winter of apparent inactivity, the Tormentors, campus dramatic organization, surprised the college this week with the announcement that a musical comedy was ready for production. Tryouts for chorus positions were held Thursday night under the direction of Mrs. Bannister of the Bannister Dancin' Academy, and the chorus will be announced soon.

In line with the purpose of the club, all the work will be student talent. A musical comedy, "Three Sheets To The Wind," has been written by Helen Norris, Manitowish, and Ray Richards, Neenah, Wis., and lyrics will be the work of Miss Norris and Arda Knickerbocker, Hartford.

Two Appleton students, La Vahn Muesch and Burton Manner are writing the music, while Isabel Wilcox, also of Appleton, will furnish the songs. Orchestration will be written by the Harry Alfred Co. of Chicago, from whom the Harpfoot club obtained its orchestration this year.

The production staff follows:
General manager, Harold Jens, Appleton; Business manager, Russell Spear, Berlin; Assistant business managers, Ray Richards and John Fishedick; Stage manager, Earl Sherman, Duluth; Properties, John Wilcox, Appleton; Lighting, Harold Zuehlke and R. R. Chalmers, Appleton; Costumes, Muriel Hammond, Appleton; Dances, Dorothy Adelt, Appleton.

The revue will be presented June 1 at Fischer's Appleton theater. Joan Fishedick, Milwaukee, will be in charge of ticket sale. It is also planned to take the show to neighboring towns but no definite engagements have been made.

Car Is Returned
H. Kopp of Kimberly was mistaken in his report to Appleton police department that his automobile had been stolen by a man who was instructed to make repairs on it. The man returned with the car Thursday, according to information furnished the police. He had kept it overnight so he could make a trout trip to make sure the repairs were satisfactory.

Easter Dance, Eagles Hall,
Monday, April 13. Pep's Specials, 8 piece orchestra.

College Frosh First To Brave River For Swim

Lawrence frosh may be timid and shy, according to the college traditions but two of the youngsters showed a decidedly brave attitude on Friday when they were the first to test the icy waters of the Fox river in 1925. The daring adventurers were Carl Thompson and Harold Zuehlke, both of Appleton. The boys decided that with the fine spring weather it was high time to take a swim, so they proceeded to "hit" the Fox near the S. Oneida-st bridge. A brief struggle with the icy water convinced them mid-summer had not yet arrived and they made for shore in much haste. Thompson is the son of Alderman and Mrs. C. D. Thompson, 527 N. Durkee-st, and Zuehlke is the son of Postmaster and Mrs. W. H. Zuehlke, 224 W. Prospect-st. The latter is a member of the Lawrence swim team.

WORKMAN KNOCKED DOWN BY 220 VOLTS

Louis Skinner, 319 W. Winnebago-st was severely shocked Saturday morning while working on an electric switch in the Henry Schabo and Son Fuel yards at the corner of College-ave and Bennett-st. Skinner was working on the conveyor, when he came into contact with a switch on a 220-volt circuit. The shock threw him to the ground unconscious, and he was rushed to the office of a physician.

DON'T WANT BABIES AT CHAPEL PROGRAM

Children under eight years will not be admitted to Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening for the Easter community musical festival, according to a decision of the arrangements committee. Parents are asked to cooperate with the committee in helping to solve the problem of handling the crowds. Youngsters under eight are unable to appreciate a program such as the "Creation" oratorio, they believe and soon become restless and distract those who would listen. The committee believes no children under perhaps 12 years ought to attend, and in cases where they do, should be accompanied by a parent or other adult to preserve the order of the chapel while the music is in progress.

SHARP DECREASE IN HOME PERMITS

Four building permits issued by the city building inspector Friday afternoon and Saturday morning bring the total for the year up to 139. The value of construction estimated at $208,781. The total number of permits issued up to April 12, 1924, was 114, but the cost estimates for that period were $947,640. The number of residence permits issued up to April 12 last year was 31 as compared to 15 during the same period this year. Garage permits during that period last year numbered 38, compared to 15 for this year.

Permits issued Friday and Saturday:
Henry Honeck, 1231 W. College-ave, residence and garage.
Marston Brothers Co., 540 N. Oneida-st, move shed and install fuel oil tanks.
H. A. Sanborn, 809 N. Morrison-st, garage.
Harold Koshab, 1031 W. Lorraine-st, residence.

1925 PETTIBONE'S 65th ANNIVERSARY YEAR

Pettibone's Store and Services Have Changed Greatly in the Sixty-Five Years Since 1860

CHAUNCEY J. PETTIBONE started his Appleton store on the then-unusual ONE-PRICE basis. Most stores of that time had a secret "bottom price," and salespeople were supposed to get as much more than that as they could. The Pettibone Store has continued this One-Price-To-All policy for sixty-five years. It has been an important factor in the building of an Unusual Store.

Sixty-five years ago the Pettibone store made no deliveries, extended limited and queerly handled credits, and gave none of the extra services that are part of its regular routine today. "Approvals" and "optionals" were unknown. The main similarity between that store and the 1925 Pettibone's was the personal service over the counter. The friendliness of this service was considered especially important by both Mr. Pettibone and Mr. Peabody.

Store Hours Are One of the Most Pronounced Reformations

Long store hours are no longer demanded by customers in 1925. When the first Pettibone store in Appleton was opened, customers shopped as early as seven in the morning and as late as eleven every night. A sixteen hour working day was the usual schedule for people in stores.

In 1925, Pettibone's is the pioneer store in Appleton for short hours. The store now opens daily at nine and closes at five-thirty, with the exception of Saturday when the closing hour is six. This schedule went into effect in January and has been continually successful from both the customer's and the store's view point.

1925—the Important Anniversary Year

This year is the first time Pettibone's has celebrated a birthday in its long life. So important a milestone deserves the spotlight that will be kept on it all year.

The Anniversary Year opened last month with exhibits of the fashions of 1860. At different times throughout the year, other exhibits of equal interest will be staged. Appleton people are invited to enter their family treasures in these showings.

Watch for the special events of Pettibone's Anniversary Year.
